The Issuer may, with immediate effect, terminate the product if an extraordinary event occurs. Examples of extraordinary events include the loss of an Underlying, tax events and the discontinuation of the Issuer's ability to carry out the necessary hedging transactions. In this case, the Redemption Amount may possibly be significantly below the purchase price. Even a total loss of the investment is possible. The investor also bears the risk that the product will be called at an unfavourable point in time and the investor might only be able to reinvest the redemption amount on less favorable terms.

2. What are the risks and what could the investor get in return?

Risk Indicator

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because the Issuer is not able to pay the investor.

We have classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second-highest risk class.

This rates the potential losses from future performance at a high level, and poor market conditions are very likely to impact the capacity of the Issuer to pay the investor of the product.

The investor shall be aware of currency risk. The investor may receive payments in a different currency, so the final return that the investor will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so the investor could lose some or all of its investment.

If the Issuer is not able to redeem the investor what is owed, the investor could lose the entire investment.

The stress scenario shows what the investor might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay the investor.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that the investor pays to the advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account the investor's personal tax situation, which may also affect how much the investor gets back.

3. What happens if the Issuer is unable to pay out?

The obligations of the Issuer under this product are guaranteed by a first demand guarantee of EFG International AG, Zurich, governed by Swiss law, which protects investors in case the Issuer is unable to fulfil its obligations under the product. A total loss of the investor's capital invested is possible if both the Issuer and the Guarantor are unable to fulfil their obligations in respect of the product and the guarantee, respectively. The product is a debt instrument and as such is not covered by any deposit protection scheme.
